BUILDING INTELLIGENCE.
 The formal opening of the building to be occupied as an exchange by the Master Builders of this city took place October 29.
 What some Philadelphia architects have to say about the business outlook:
 Angus S. Wade, 20 South Broad St., said: "1889 has been one of my most successful seasons, but, from present indications, the season of 1890 will equal, if not surpass it, in many particulars."
 E. W. Thorn, 1305 Arch St., reports: "Operations have been medium for 1889, but I think 1890 will be much better. Have a number of plans left over for next season."
 Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut St., reports: "The past season has been remarkable for the amount of work done in the city. I have excelled all former years. I think 1890 will be a good year for building."
Russellville, Ky.—An opera-house, to cost $15,000, will be built.
